"CORN EATERS OF AMERICA" INSTALLATION

Each Member Pledged To Partake of Corn Product Menu Once a Day

CORN AGAIN CROWN'D KING

Lincoln, Neb. Feb. 1.—Delegates from a dozen middlewestern states are expected here February 15, when the installation exercises of an organization to be known as "The Corn Eaters of America" will be solemnized. The meeting has for its purpose the creation of a national association, each member of which is pledged to partake of a corn product menu once each day in an endeavor to increase the consumption of corn with a view of stimulating the price of the product.

The foundation of the association was laid here recently when the Nebraska "Crib," as the chapters will be called, was organized at a banquet attended by more than 500 Nebraskans, representing agricultural, commercial and industrial organizations throughout the state. A "Corn Eaters" banquet featured the menu which was composed of corn products solely. Attending the banquet was a playlet in which corn again was crowned king and a marriage with "Queen Minute Wheat" performed with signal ceremonies.

The Lincoln chamber of commerce has taken up the movement and sent out invitations to chambers of commerce, agricultural colleges, farm bureau federations and farmer organizations generally throughout the corn and wheat belt of the middle-west urging representation at the meeting February 15, with a view of making it a national organization.

Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas have been approached, according to the secretary.

SAYS HIS PLAN SOLVES WINTER FEED PROBLEM

Growing of Corn is the Thing, Says Farmer of Missouri Slope

Hebron, N. D., Feb. 1.—Winter feed is one of the big problems of farmers of the Missouri Slope, and Morton county is a good hay market most months of the winter. Carload after carload is shipped in from the nearest points where hay is available and the farmers of the county have been studying the problem for the last year. The long continued dry weather has prevented even the usual growth of grass on the higher prairie lands.

George Engelhardt, a rancher near here, believes he solved the problem last summer and is enthusiastic for his plan.

"I see your head," Mr. Engelhardt commenced on his blunt farmer way to some men complaining of not having feed. "Listen to this: I've harvested forty acres of corn this year and averaged twenty-five bushels an acre. Upward of a thousand bushels of corn I guess. Then I have about one hundred and fifty tons of fodder for my stock. The Morton county feed shortage does not bother me. I have plenty of seed corn also.

"Last year was the first season I raised corn, but it will have its place in my crop rotation from this time on. I planted the corn, yellow flint, on Minnesota 13, June 1st, and the corn was ripe August 19th. This yellow flint is high enough to cut with a binder. I spring plowed forty acres of land and harrowed it both ways twice. After the corn was planted it was harrowed three times more and it received four cultivations. This looks like a good deal of work, but the cattle are paying for it this winter.

For the coming year, in addition to his corn, Mr. Engelhardt will try twenty acres of sweet clover and some alfalfa. He figures that with corn, sweet clover and alfalfa, he will have about all the elements that go into the production of flesh and milk.

BILL FOR TAXES IN COUNTY FOR 1921 IS LESS

Total of all Levies is $26,000 Less Than For Year, 1920. It Is Shown

SOME TAXES INCREASED

States Taxes Boosted While Most Other Levies Are Shown to Have Been Cut

The taxpayers' bill in Burleigh county is cut $26,661.72 from the previous year, it is shown in a statement of taxes on the records of Frank Johnson, county auditor. Comparing the 1921 taxes, now being paid, with the 1920 taxes it is shown that there is considerable increase in the state general tax and the state half insurance payments, a decrease of about $60,000 in the county levy all told, although there is a small increase in the general fund; a decrease in the taxes of the civil city of Bismarck, school city of Bismarck, and in the township taxes.

The efforts to economize, enforced by the tax limitation law which provided that no more than one-third of all taxes collected during 1919, 1920 and 1921 could be collected for 1921, resulted in decreases in almost every one of the sub-divisions of the general taxation funds given below.

State tax, 1921	$110,267.44
1920	65,286.00
Hall insurance, 3 cent average tax, 1921	17,573.10

PHYSICIAN OF GRAND FORKS IS ON TRIAL

Charged with Manslaughter and Practising Medicine Without License

MANY ATTEND TRIAL

Grand Forks, Feb. 1.—Testimony tending to show that the death certificate of Mrs. Hans C. Hanson of Northwood, who died last November, was signed by "Dr. Samuel Kirby, who is charged with practicing medicine without a license, and manslaughter, was a feature of the opening of his trial for the alleged medical law violation.

The first witness called was N. F. Olson, manager of the company having charge of the building at Northwood where Mr. Kirby is said to have had offices. Mr. Olson testified that Mr. Kirby occupied the quarters in question but that he did not pay rent for them.

Next on the stand was Hans C. Hanson, clerk in a Northwood store. Mr. Kirby is alleged to have signed the death certificate of Hanson's wife, Mr. Hanson testified that on November 7, 1921, he called the defendant to his home to treat his wife, who he claims had been suffering for some time with cancer of the stomach.

Painted Stomach.
Mr. Kirby, the testimony showed, treated the witness' wife, with an application of some kind of "black" fluid. This, it was claimed, was painted over her entire stomach. The witness further testified that Mr. Kirby gave instructions that if any blisters appeared they were to be "picked."

Upon cross examination by J. F. T. O'Connor, counsel for defense, Mr. Hanson said that he had been previously notified by a physician of Northwood that Mrs. Hanson's case was hopeless.

As exhibit No. 1, Mr. Elton presented a death certificate which Mr. Hanson claimed to have been the one made out for his wife on November 12. He said he first took it to a Northwood physician who treated the deceased, this physician advising him to "take the certificate to Mr. Kirby as the last one treating the patient."

Struck Out Letters "M. D."
Mr. Hanson testified to the signature on the certificate as being that of the defendant. In cross examination by Mr. O'Connor he said that upon signing the certificate Mr. Kirby struck out the letters "M. D."

The last witness examined was C. W. Kyle, funeral director of Northwood. Mr. Kyle testified as to the writing on the certificate, claiming to have made out the body of the certificate himself. He says the signature was that of the defendant.

Additional witnesses are expected to be called by the state this morning, and it is believed that the case will be continued until Wednesday or later. This action is to be followed by the case of the state against the same defendant on a charge of manslaughter, in connection with the death of a Mayville boy.

Women Crochet.
Greater, perhaps, than in any case tried here for years is the interest being taken in the Kirby trial. The court room was filled to overflowing throughout the two sessions Monday. A large number of the spectators are from out of town and many of these are women.

A group of women who were unable to crowd into the court room during the morning session, instead of leaving during the noon recess, entered the room and secured front seats, which they held throughout the afternoon. Several of them had brought their crocheting with them, with which they utilized their time during the duller moments of the trial.

When court opened Attorney O'Connor entered a demurrer instead of a plea. The demurrer was overruled by Judge Engler. Mr. O'Connor took exception to the ruling and entered a plea of not guilty for his client.

FARM LOAN MONEY PAID

The making of farm loans has been started by the new administration. Manager W. B. DeNault, of the farm loan department, said today that $14,000 had been advanced by the Bank of North Dakota and paid out by the farm loan department of the bank closing up loans.

Several emergency loans will be taken care of by the farm loan department between now and the middle of February, when bond sale money is expected to become available. A volume business cannot be done at this time.

GIVES BLOOD AND GETS A MEDAL

Miss Cecil Francisco of Kansas City gave 16 ounces of her blood to save a man's life. Not because she knew the man but because she had pledged, as a member of the Campfire Girls organization to "follow the Law of the Fire." The annual conference of Campfire Girls' executives voted her a gold medal for the sacrifice.

SWEDEN'S WOMEN DID NOT WORRY OVER ELECTION

Less Than 50 Per Cent of Them Went To The Polls In The 1921 Elections

Stockholm, Feb. 1.—Less than half of the women of Sweden entitled to vote exercised their newly-won franchise rights at the polls in the elections of 1921, the first year of full suffrage for women, according to a report of the Swedish Central Bureau of Statistics just made public. However, the official report of the 1921 elections gives the suffragist leaders at least two causes for rejoicing.

The men did not show a much better record than the women, and the number of women voters exceeded the male voters in the capital of Stockholm by more than 5,000 voters.

The official report shows that 47.1 per cent of the Swedish women voters cast their ballot while 61.9 per cent of the men voted. The total women's vote in the city of Stockholm was 70,566, while the vote cast by men was 71,198.

The general impression throughout the country seems to be that the Swedish women have not fully realized the importance and significance of their new privilege. It is believed that in the future they will make a better showing at the polls.

The heavy women's vote in Stockholm, which is to a large extent an industrial city, may indicate that the working women, especially women trade union members, grasped the opportunity to register their votes. However, other women cannot be said to have neglected the ballot as a whole.

WOMAN BLAMED BY HER FAMILY

Restless, irritable, nervous, excitable and exacting is the charge against her by those nearest and dearest. How little they realize the struggle the overworked wife and mother is making to keep about and perform the hundred and one duties that devolve upon her! Every hour her headaches, backaches and pains drag her down until she can stand it no longer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more women in this condition to health and happiness than any other medicine. The grateful letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have found health by its use prove it. —Adv.

Science Now Shows Why Thousands of People Are Always Weak, Thin, and Run-Down No Matter How Much They Eat

What to Do to Help Put on Good Firm Flesh, Increase Weight, and Obtain a More Beautiful Form and Figure

Get a FREE $1.00 Package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets Today as Explained Below — Try Them for Ten Days and Watch the Results

Science has at last shown how we sometimes grow weak, thin, and emaciated on an abundance of food (lacking in vitamins) while with a much smaller amount of food, rich in vitamins, we may quickly take on good firm flesh, increase in weight, and make a remarkable gain in strength, energy and endurance, provided your blood contains sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable your body to assimilate your food properly.

Without organic iron both food and vitamins are absolutely useless as your body cannot change lifeless inert food matter into living cells and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood.

For centuries scientists tried in vain to make organic iron. At last the problem was solved so that you may now obtain pure organic iron like the iron in your blood from any druggist under the name of "Nuzated Iron".

It has been arranged to give to every purchaser of Nuzated Iron, who wishes to put on flesh or increase weight, a large regular $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free. Be sure to take only Nuzated Brand Yeast Vitamine Tablets with Nuzated Iron.

COUNTRY LIFE DEVELOPMENT IN U. S. SLOW

Old-Time Three Months Winter
School Developed Into Modern Community High School

COUNTRY CHURCH NEEDED

Eugene Davenport Claims, From a Religious Standpoint, We Are "Slipping"

Ames, Ia., Feb. 2.—The United States was settled not by conquest, but by the home builder. The pioneer with his young wife, his gun, his ax, and his dog went into the wilderness to build a home. The farm came later as the settlement developed into a community. This community is the heart and the soul of America today. Dean Eugene Davenport, of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, told the farmers at the Farmers' Week at Iowa State College here today.

"The development of country life in America has been a slow and in many respects a complicated matter," Dean Davenport said. "The old-time three months' winter school has developed into the modern community high school, and in many localities the farmer's sons and daughters can prepare for college while sleeping every night under the father's roof."

"The religious life of the community has not equally developed. In many respects we have gone backward as compared with the early days, and there is no feature of farm life that needs now more earnest attention than the development of the country church."

"In the meantime, it is more difficult than ever to secure a home upon the land. For those who are fortunate enough to inherit a goodly property, the farm and the home come together. For those who begin with their hands and undertake to purchase, the problem is a serious one. As for the tenant, he may secure a farm by paying cash or crop rent, but he cannot have a real home until he owns it."

The Financial Question
The rest of modern country homes are now equipped with all modern conveniences, and they are real centers of culture, but their number needs vastly to increase. There is no larger problem before the American people today than is the financial machinery for facilitating the purchase of country homes.

"Landscape art has only begun to do for our homesteads what trees and shrubs and flowers and sloping lawns are entirely able to accomplish in the matter of beauty and all in an inexpensive way. A good tree once planted takes care of itself. Shrubs and grass need little attention, and in respect to what may be accomplished by outdoor art, we are only at the threshold of what needs greatly to be done."

"The vast prairie empire of the upper Mississippi valley has begun an extensive system of road building. There should go with it for beauty's sake and for public satisfaction a comprehensive plan for roadside planting."

"Our amusements have in too many places departed from the old-time country social to a more or less systematic drift to the nearest town to be entertained by such movies as happen to be upon the reels. The country people, like those of the city, have too far lost the power of self-entertainment. For part of the time at least, they need to look in and not out for sources of amusement and of satisfaction as 'spice to the serious business of life. The good work is beginning in our better schools, but it has not far to go."

Too Much Amusement
"Both amusement and recreation are too much employed as a mere means of getting rid of surplus time, especially in the winter, and all too often they cut into the serious business of production in even the busiest season. The practice of taking Saturday afternoon off, which obtains in many places regardless of the condition of the crops or the harvest, and spending the time mainly in loafing at the nearest town is a social custom that has grown up without sufficient reason, and it should be either discontinued or something really worth while should occupy the time."

"All in all, the open country is just at the threshold of a social development which ought to result in an American type of citizenship, not only industrious but cultured and in every way thoroughly consistent with the standards of a self governing people."

ONCE A BAD MAN'S TOWN, IS NOW REAL GOOD

Oeracoke Was The Rendezvous of a Band of Daring and Famous Crooks Years Ago

IS NOW TRANSFORMED

The Recent Crime Wave Has Not
Even Reached This Town
Up To Present Time

Oeracoke, N. C., Feb. 2.—Although this little town about a century and a half ago was the rendezvous of one of the world's most daring and famous bands of crooks—Edward Teach (Blackbeard) and his band—it is today one of the most law-abiding and law-abiding communities in the South. There has not been an arrest here in more than ten years and the crimes of robbery, burglary, theft and murder are absolutely unknown to the population, insofar as they refer to Oeracoke.

John Oneal, after holding office as justice of the peace at Oeracoke for eight years, assigned a year or more ago, not having had a criminal case during his administration. A successor has never been elected. Mr. Oneal, who was born at Oeracoke, says the worst crime he can recall to have occurred at Oeracoke in 50 years was one of assault and battery.

There are only one or two homes here that have locks on the doors and the keys to those that are, thus equipped are never used. Most of the houses at Oeracoke were wholly or partially constructed of lumber of shingles which were worked on the treacherous shoals off the North Carolina coast. Every family here owns their home.

Oeracoke is at the extreme southern end of a little island by the same name, located about 10 miles off the mainland of North Carolina, and is unique in many respects. Oeracoke Island, which is part of Hyde county, North Carolina, is a little strip of land about 11 miles long and ranges in width from the left to one and a half miles. The population of the island numbers about 500, about 60 of whom live at Oeracoke. Those who do not live in the little town are members of the families of coast guardsmen, who patrol the coast.

Inhabitants Hunt and Fish
As there are no railroads, automobiles, street cars or theaters where motion pictures are shown, many of the inhabitants at Oeracoke have never seen any of these things. With the exception of the men employed by the U. S. Coast Guard, the only visitors to the island are the few merchant ships that call at Oeracoke, and the few who make their living by hunting and fishing.

Every person on Oeracoke Island is a Methodist in religion. They are divided, however, as to the sectional branch to which they belong, about half being members of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, while the others attend the Northern Church. Oeracoke is one of the oldest settlements in America. The people are believed to be the descendants of the "Lost Colony" of Sir Walter Raleigh.

EFFICIENCY OF FARM LABOR IN U. S. INCREASES

From 1870-1910, Per-Farmer
Grain Production Increased
From 13,625 to 19,788 Lbs.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 2. The most important index of fundamental progress in American agriculture is probably found in the fact that measured by the production of grain, the efficiency of farm labor in the United States increased 45 per cent in the 40 years from 1870 to 1910. Prof. A. R. Munn, dean of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, told the 1910 State university here today.

"The fact that the per-farmer production of grain increased from 13,625 to 19,788 pounds," continued Munn.

"From figures carefully collected in New York State, it appears that 50 per cent more of farm products was produced per worker in New York farms in 1917 than in 1867."

"The fact that American cities have grown so enormously is testimony to an increased efficiency of farm labor

King's Dehydration

—this is the old-fashioned way—mussy, hand-roughening, time-taking and wasteful.

—and this is the NEW way—simply refresh the water according to directions and cook as though freshly gathered

Boon to kitchen-weary housewives

IN a whole century there has been no achievement so important in lessening the work of "kitchen-keeping" as the perfection of King's Dehydration.

That is a bold statement to make but every woman knows that the elimination of the worry of fresh fruit and vegetable marketing, and the tedious hand-roughening work of washing, peeling, coring, slicing, etc., to prepare fresh fruits and vegetables for cooking—is a real boon to her—a genuine achievement looking to greater efficiency in her work.

And yet all this lessening of work is at no sacrifice of old-fashioned "home-cooking" flavor and the natural healthful value of fresh products!

Fresh foods for winter meals

For King's Dehydration brings an era in which fresh uncooked fruits and vegetables are as easy to obtain in winter as in the summer.

Imagine the wonderful possibilities!

Juicy apples, fresh prunes, loganberries and other luscious summer fruits—succulent tender stringless beans, spinach, pumpkin, etc., served in real "home-cooked" style in winter, when markets are bare of anything but cold storage or expensive hot-house produce.

Winter meals easier to plan

How the "family" will enjoy these "out of season" treats!

How much easier to plan the variety for winter meals that keeps appetites on edge!

How much more healthy every one will be for eating plentifully of fresh fruit dishes and green vegetables—nature's blood purifying foods!

Waste and spoil prevented

King's Dehydration makes all these things possible by removing the original water content from freshly gathered, cleaned, peeled, sliced products.

The water—(80 to 90 per cent of the bulk)—is essential to fruit and vegetable growth, but is also responsible for later over-ripening and decay.

King's Dehydration removes the water, arrests over-ripening and prevents decay. King's Dehydrated Products will thus "keep" indefinitely, without refrigeration or preserving.

Fresh products, minus the water, become King's Dehydrated fruits and vegetables; King's Dehydrated fruits and vegetables, plus water, are fresh.

That is the real marvel of King's Dehydration; for by King's patented method the water is removed without over-heating or cooking in so magical a way that the flavor, color and texture of the product is hardly changed a bit! It leaves the products in such a form that they readily reabsorb water and become, again, as the fresh.

The great economy of time and labor and material

So you grow fresh fruits and vegetables when you want them in your own pantry, merely by adding water to King's Dehydrated Products.

That's ALL you do; just add water. No sorting, washing, peeling, slicing. Just re-fresh, and cook—flavoring or seasoning in any way you like. No sugar or preservatives have been added previously to help closely change the flavor of King's. Thus the old-fashioned "home-cooked" flavor is possible again

No waste to pay for

And mind you there's no waste. You buy 100% food—pay for no peeling, coring, tail spots, or water—just whole, some, delicious fresh food.

Hornell, N. Y. "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my head and aching joints. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Many workers have been freed for work in city industries.

"In 1920, 87 per cent of all Americans gainfully employed were in agriculture. In 1910, only 33 per cent of our population, so engaged, raised enough for the whole group and a considerable surplus for export. This is striking evidence of a wonderful increase in the efficiency of American farmers."

Farmer Entitled to Consideration.

"Every consideration is due the farmer in his present plight. He has suffered disproportionately. When, however, one takes a long look, there are reasons for encouragement. In a recent study on farm prices, Dr. George Warren finds that, despite present conditions, American farm products have had a higher purchasing power since 1900 than before that time. While the increase is not great, it shows that prior to the outbreak of the World War, the farmer was making some financial progress."

"More economical production and more profitable prices for farm products are essential, but economic prosperity will not of itself make the life of the rural community fully satisfying."

"Agricultural progress is to be found in the progress of achieving, on the part of people living in the country, in even greater amount and just proportion, the highest planes of wealth, health, sociability, knowledge

RECOVERY OF FARM PRICES IS PREDICTED

City National Bank of New York Gives Business Review

WHEAT POSITION STRONG

Improved State of Feeling in Cattle Country of Late

New York, Feb. 2.—The National City Bank of this city today issued the following statement relative to the outlook for farm products:

"While it is early to make predictions for the coming season there is a basis for confidence that prices of farm products will make some recovery in the present year. As a result of the short crop of cotton the surplus of that commodity which has hung over the market for several years will be in great part removed. While larger crop may be expected in 1922 than in 1921, an increase of 5,000,000 bales sounds very large, and there is good reason to think that the market will take a 13,000,000 bale crop with out a serious decline of price. The world's stock of cotton goods has not been kept up in recent years, and one of these days replenishment will be in order.

The statistical position of wheat is very strong, and common opinion is that we are not likely to have a bumper crop in this country in 1922. Stocks are light all over the world, and both Argentina and Australia have had unusual luck with their crops for now two years. All reports about the market in recent months have agreed that it lacked speculative support. The farmers marketed rapidly, and there was not enough speculative buying to sustain the price.

The corn crop was a magnificent one in quantity and quality, and together with a big carry-over from 1920, too much for the current demand. The south cut down its acreage in cotton and increased its acreage in corn, this year it will put some of that land back in cotton. The acreage of corn was increased during the war, when prices were very high and some reduction will be naturally in order. Furthermore, it would be remarkable if the country had a third record-breaking crop in succession.

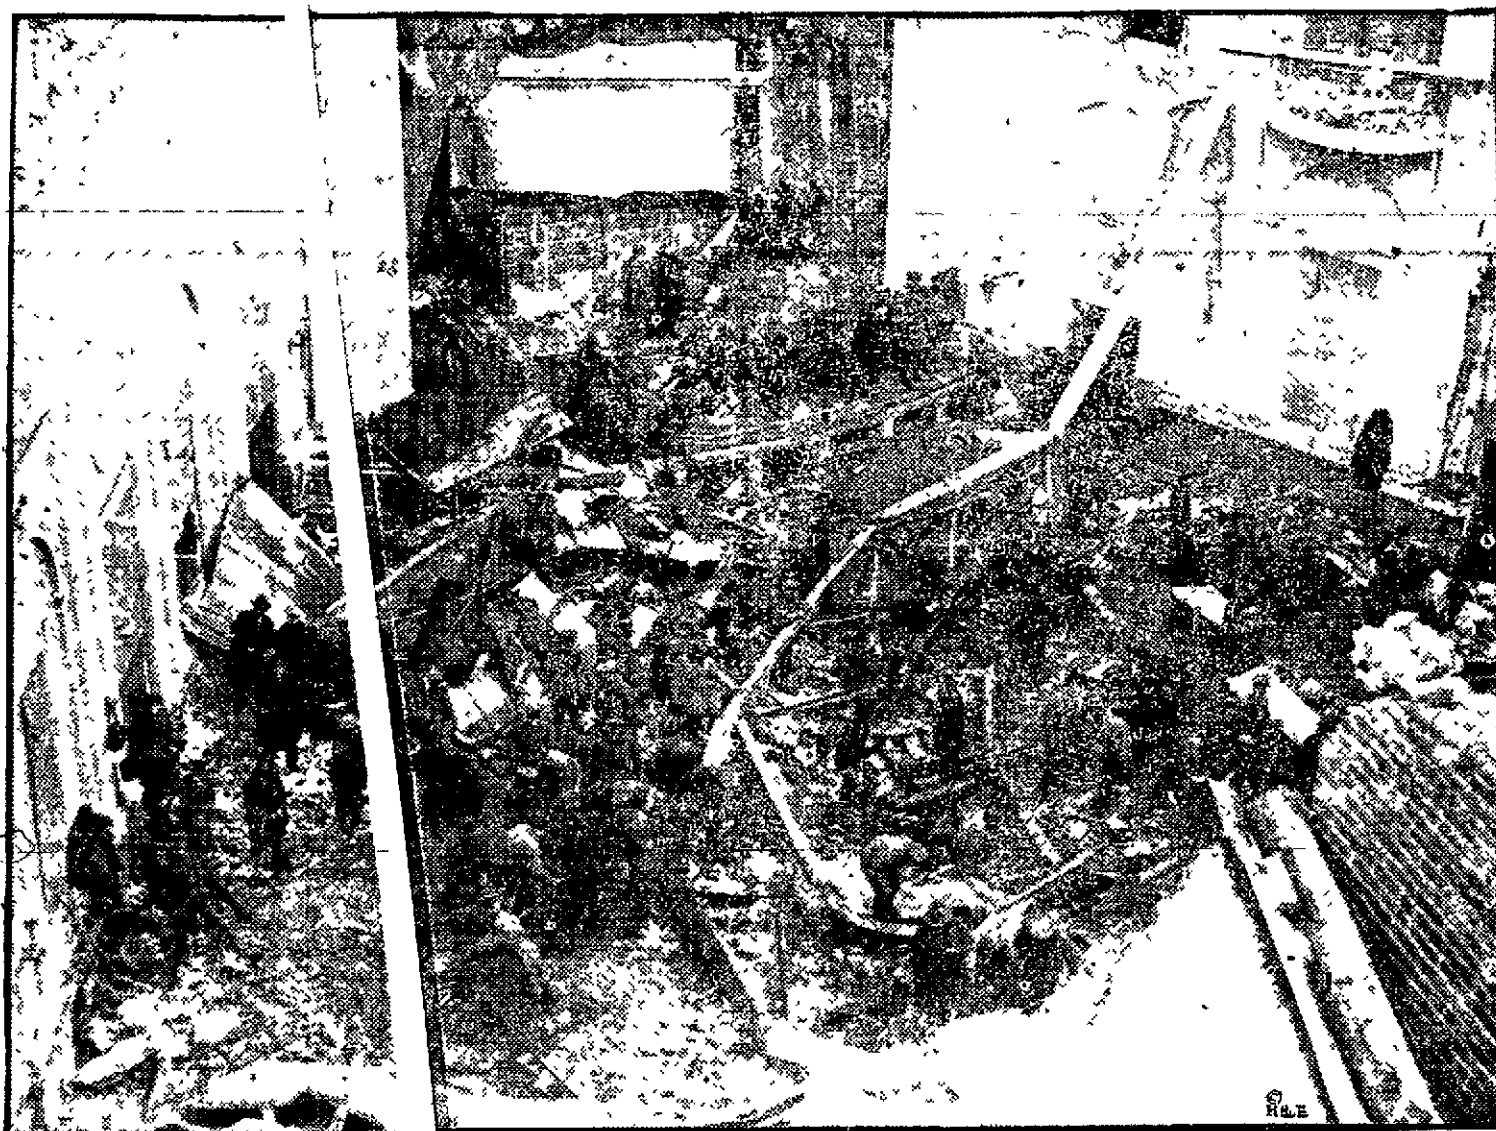

"Reports indicate a much improved state of feeling in the cattle country in recent months, the result in part of the heavy liquidation that has taken place. The report from Texas is that the country is cleaned out of aged steers and that the amount of all kinds of cattle to come from there this coming spring will be high. There has been a great distribution of herds under the pressure of debt, but it has left the situation much stronger. Men qualified to judge say the southwest has not in many years had so few cattle to sell. Cow values are said to have advanced $10 to $20 per head since the fall.

"One accomplishment undoubtedly may be credited to the Emergency Tariff, viz., it has strengthened the market for wool and sheep. Ewes are in demand and have had a good advance in price. The prospect for the sheepgrowers is considered much more promising. It should be added that foreign wool markets are stronger.

"Insofar as the prospect for better prices is due to a general restriction of production we do not believe it signifies a real improvement of conditions. If the production of corn is out of balance with the production of livestock the situation should be corrected, but we do not believe the state of the country or the position of the farmer will be improved by a general curtailment of production. Higher prices will make living costs higher for the town population and tend to retard the readjustment of wages in the town industries, while the farmer can gain but little by higher prices for a reduced output. The farmer's investment in land and equipment is the same whether he grows a full crop or a short one, and he does so much of the farm work himself that the difference in outlay is comparatively small. The farmer can better afford to trade a full, normal crop for full, normal purchases of town-made goods than to trade a scant crop of a restricted output of the town industries and the manufacturing industries will profit best by the same arrangement. What the workers in the last analysis is plenty of each other's goods, and that is not to be had by the narrow policy of restricting production in order to put prices up on each other.

"While it is true that a great amount of outstanding indebtedness will have to be carried over until after the next crop, and that probably there will have to be some readjust-

BIRDSEYE OF INTERIOR SHOWING RESCUE WORK

Birdseye view of the interior of the Knickerbocker theater, Washington, after the collapse of the theater roof which killed 114 and injured more than 250. In the foreground are the ruins of the balcony, swept by the fall of the roof, burying spectators and curving toward the foreground is a bent and twisted steel girder which gave way under the weight of snow. Soldiers, a debris with shovels for more bodies. In the right, are removing bodies on stretchers. Other soldiers are seen digging in the left foreground is a mass of snow precipitated when the roof fell.

SEARCHING WRECKAGE FOR VICTIMS

Searching the wreckage of the Knickerbocker theater, Washington, for dead and injured after the fashionable motion picture house collapsed, killing 114 and injuring more than 250. Firemen, soldiers and citizen volunteers are shown at work. Note the massive steel girders which supported the roof and the great blocks of concrete that fell when the girders gave way under the weight of snow. At the left one of the broken girders can be seen.

PHYSICIANS IN SWEDEN-U.S., ON SAME FOOTING

Stockholm, Feb. 2.—Physicians in Sweden, like those of America, cannot be compelled hereafter to give evidence in court against their will in medical cases with which they have been professionally connected, under a decision just given by the Lower Court of Appeals of Stockholm. This court has just reversed a decision given by a magistrate's court which would have compelled a physician to testify in fact this has been the practice in Sweden.

The case which evoked this ruling placed the Swedish physician on a par with the American doctor attracted wide attention in Scandinavia and of the continent, while it was being argued in the lower courts and was closely watched by lawyers as well as physicians.

Although the case may yet be appealed to the supreme court no notice of such action has been given.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

February 10 Is Date for Third Annual Dance

One of the mid-winter social events in the city will be the third annual dance of the North Dakota Chapter of the American Association of Engineers, which is to be held in Patterson hall at 9:30 P. M., February 10. The dance will be held in honor of out-of-town delegates and their wives and ladies and will be given under the auspices of the Bismarck A. A. E. club. Invitations have been issued and are to be presented at the door. Entrance to the hall will be made through the McKenzie hotel. The annual Engineers dance, which closes the state convention of professional engineers and architects, has come to be recognized as one of the leading social events of the city. The occasion is generally accompanied by features and novelties not commonly encountered at the usual dance. The committee in charge and the hotel management promise the presentation of features which have not attended any other similar local occasions. At 7:30 P. M. and preceding the dance will be given the annual banquet for which invitations have also been issued. The banquet will be held in the McKenzie hotel dining room. Governor Nestor will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker. F. H. Peters and J. N. Roberts are chairmen in charge of both affairs.

Musical Comedy Attracts Interest

The spiffy, catchy musical comedy "Katcha Koo," coming to the city auditorium on the evenings of February 10 and 11, is attracting marked attention in society circles. In this we are to see bedazzling costumes on professional lines—no home made stuff. Scenery and stage properties are some of the best of their kind, and professional training shows all the way through. Music and song will make glad the hours spent at the show and live people (not pictures), will make things go. Harr's & Co. have the tickets on sale and everybody's going.

GIVES CARD PARTY.

Mr. Harry Clooten entertained a number of friends at a card party at her home Tuesday evening. Dr. H. A. Brander and Mrs. Arthur Brown won the high scores at the close of the evening's play. Refreshments were served. Miss Hannah Iker of Minneapolis was an out of town guest.

MISS WEBER HONOR GUEST.

Miss Julia Weber was the honor guest at a party given at the home of Mrs. R. A. Tracy, 316 First street. A taffy pull was the diversion of the evening. There were eleven guests. Light refreshments were served at the close of the pleasant evening.

Interest Grows in Card Party and Dance Friday

A great deal of interest is being taken in the card party and carnival dance which the Catholic Daughters of America are giving at St. Mary's school on Friday night, February 3. The entertainment given by this organization have a reputation for being very enjoyable and it is expected that a large crowd will attend the affair. The dancing party will be held in the gymnasium of St. Mary's school. The Little Wander orchestra, of St. Mary's will furnish the music for the dancing. Those who do not care to dance are invited to attend the card party which will be held in the auditorium of the school. Mrs. J. P. Wagner is chairman of the committee in charge. Members of the organization are now selling tickets. The proceeds will be used to carry on the charitable work of the society. The Catholic Daughters of America have done much charitable work in the city and they are giving this entertainment to enlarge their funds for this work.

A Better Day Than Yesterday

Each day should be a better day than yesterday—better health, better work, better play.

Whether it is a better day or not depends largely on whether the mind is fettered by food follies or brightened and vivified by a breakfast that is warm, satisfying and nourishing. Start the day right by eating the food that puts warmth and peppy vim into the body on the coldest days. Shredded Wheat is rich in heat-making, tissue-building elements and it is ready-cooked and easily digested. A breakfast of Shredded Wheat with hot milk lays the foundation for a successful day. It is a boon to busy housewives and solves the breakfast problem in winter.

Heat the biscuits in the oven to restore their crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and a little salt. Better for children than mushy porridges—ready-cooked and ready-to-serve.

GIVES DINNER PARTY.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

LAW ENFORCEMENT
Attorney General Johnson sounds the proper keynote in his letter to the county officials entrusted with law enforcement. He properly fixes the responsibility where it belongs upon the appointed police officials of the state and the county prosecutors.

The creation of the pool hall inspection department took from cities and smaller political subdivisions revenue needed for the operation of local law enforcement agencies and shifted the responsibility to a new department which by the very nature of things could not be efficient but has proved a heavy tax upon the people.

Mr. Johnson points out that the funds for the operation of this department are exhausted, but that this in no wise relieves any local officer from performing his duty in the enforcement of law.

The Tribune has opposed the creation of special departments for the enforcement of certain laws. Activity of so called "reformers" to create a department which would place them in positions of ease and emolument has characterized every session of the legislature. The kind of lobby which is maintained from the first drop of the gavel has become notoriously pestiferous.

North Dakota has staggered under a tax load for many years but there are healthy signs that the worm is turning.

The pool hall inspection department should be eliminated, in fact, as it is now in practice, through shortage of funds. Judge Robinson's initiated measure wiping out this extra law enforcement body should receive the hearty support of every citizen who feels that the local machinery of law enforcement is efficient enough now to cope with any infractions of state laws relative to the operation of the pool halls.

Assigning law enforcement to a multiplicity of boards and commissions means not more but less law enforcement. The local police departments, the town marshals, sheriffs and states attorneys are paid to perform a certain function. Create a state department to share that responsibility with them and in many instances there is a general "passing of the buck."

When the whole story is told of the pool hall inspection department, the tax payers should become thoroughly aroused to its inefficiency and its capacity for wasting public funds in performing a function that can be done better by federal and elected officials in the various localities without additional cost to the state.

Attorney General Johnson can serve the state in no better way than to impress upon local officials that they are under oath to enforce every law impartially and not to make a scape goat out of any extra law enforcement body that the legislature may have created to appease a group of people who believe the enforcement of a certain kind of laws takes precedence over all other laws.

The funds taken from cities and counties by the creation of the pool hall inspection department should be restored as soon as the vicious law creating that department can be repealed, so that the local law enforcement agencies can be strengthened. They must do the work now while the state gets the license money.

All power to Mr. Johnson in his drive to impress upon law officers that the responsibility for maintaining law and order and guarding the peace, health and safety of the community is at their doors.

North Dakota should lose no time in ending the farce of divided authority that costs more and gives less in real service.

LOSS
The bigger they are, the harder they fall. The largest mail order house's financial statement shows it lost $16,435,469 in 1921. Its sales for the year were $178,014,981, compared with $254,595,059 the year before. Falling prices are back of it all. Lean years follow fat years. Small chance to survive unless a surplus is laid aside in good times. Business is a roller-coaster.

WHAT IS HARD LUCK?
A $20,000 auto and six brownstone mansions in Petrograd were owned by Oscar Payor a few years ago. He was a multimillionaire, the leather tanning king of Russia. The bolsheviks seized his property and money. Payor arrives in Boston. Worked his way across the Atlantic, shoveling coal in the engine room of the Norwegian steamer Corona. Americans who think they have had hard luck during depression, should compare their lot with Payor's.

Is he discouraged? No. He washes the coal dust off his hands, announces he will begin working at the bottom and "one of these days may be an American millionaire."
You never can tell. Payor is only 32. And America is a young man's country.

A HINT TO THE FARMER
Financial reviews which fix the attention in these days of readjustment contain a lesson for the farmers of North Dakota. Students of economics who have watched the price fluctuations are a unit in their conclusion that dairy products held up better than anything else on the former's list. Not only held more stable but kept thousands of farms in ready money.
One survey of the situation in dairy products has this comment to make:

"The report of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers for the week ended January 14, 1922, eighty-four plants showed an increased production of 4.4 per cent over the previous week and 40.7 per cent over the corresponding week of the year before. The price broke about 15 cents per pound, but has since made a partial recovery."

Every encouragement and legitimate assistance to aid the farmers of this section to get into the dairy business should be given. Some progress has been made in Burleigh county. The city businessman as well as his brother businessman on the farm can join hands in such a movement.

There is a great future before Burleigh county in this line and never will the county come into its own until dairy stock increases.

Agriculture means most to Bismarck and the stimulation of this industry should be the main issue with our commercial bodies. Theories as to how cities advertise and expand avail little if there is no profitable production upon the acres adjacent.

Money spent in support of a commercial club in Bismarck is wasted unless a major portion of the fund is devoted to promoting the cause of agriculture. The growth of the city can only follow profitable growth on the farms. In cities of the size of Bismarck, executives of commercial bodies should be trained agriculturists with a keen knowledge of the problems of transportation and equitable adjustment of freight tariffs.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK
According to the monthly letter of John H. Rich, chairman and federal reserve agent for the Ninth Federal Reserve District, financial conditions improved materially in December and early part of January.

Building permits in nine important cities were half again as large as a year ago in the same month. Stocks of retailers and wholesalers of lumber were much larger than a year ago.

Estimates of acreage sown to winter wheat in the Northwest show an increase as against a decrease for the whole United States, another promise for a brighter future.

The Twin Cities showed a decrease in the cost of living of 12 per cent below the figure of a year ago.

BLUE-BLOODS
The birth rate among New York City's "first families" is so low that the family names are headed for extinction. So reports Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner.

New York's fashionable residential section last year had only seven births for each 1000 residents. In the districts where pa carries a dinner-pail, 57 babies were ushered into the world for each 1000 foreign-born mothers.

The descendants of these foreign-born mothers will be the blue-bloods of future New York "society." Fur peddlers, saloon keepers and fishermen of 300 years ago are well represented in what New York now calls its "400."

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

GOOD BUSINESS AND GOOD ROADS
Good roads have much to do with the volume of business in all rural districts. Highway improvements during the past twenty years have given powerful impetus to rural trade, opening constant winter communication with farmers who formerly were tied up from November to April, with all their products—hay, grain, potatoes, etc., not marketed before winter began.

There is an interesting parallel between good highways and good business. A well built road is always "crowned," that is, so constructed that it drains quickly and completely. A poor road is flat, water stands on it, mud follows, and in due time it becomes impassible. Some businesses are poorly drained. Uncollected accounts, neglected stocks, inattentive help and other things result in delayed payment of bills, deterioration of credit, and ultimate disappearance of profits. A business man must keep the "going" good in his business, must keep it in repair, well drained of all causes of delay and loss. When he does this, his going is sure to be good; he will not be stuck in the mud when his obligations fall due.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Chicago newspaper to discover the handsomest man in the Middle West. A friend sent Ralph Graves' photograph, and the award came to him. A motion picture company invited him to work in a picture and the entrance to the studio was the exit forever from the steel business.
Finally, Griffith, the wizard whose eyes are always roving for promising material in the screen world, saw him, engaged him, and cast him in a picture.
When "Dream Street" was started, Graves found himself in a role of a young man whose golden voice conquered the girls, and whose great bold fists conquered the men. His part is of physical exuberance and spiritual struggle, played with great understanding and so much charm that Alan Hale, the New York critic said of him "He is the finest actor I have ever seen on the screen. He has youth, look, talent, and great personal magnetism."

THE ELTINGE
"Patron My French," featuring Vivian Martin, is showing at the Eltinge today. As Polly, a member of a one night stand theatrical troupe, Vivian experiences many laughable mishaps. However, her real adventures start when she is forced to take a job as maid when the company hits the rocks. As French maid with a new rich Kansas family, it is her duty to instruct them in the rules of etiquette as practiced in society circles. The family, Pa and Ma Hawk

BUSINESS BOOM ON
The railroad will make vast changes in Alaska's commercial affairs. The Yukon River will still be a factor, but time, distance and expense for interior transportation will be cut considerably.

The big coal fields at Manataska have been reopened and coal is already starting toward the ocean, and by ships for the Pacific Coast states, where there is a big demand for coal at reasonable prices.
Several choice farming districts, isolated by lack of transportation, are now able to dispose of products. A flour mill has been opened at Fairbanks to supply people who heretofore had to send thousands of miles for this product. Other plants to supply local markets are also springing up.

AT THE MOVIES
HANDSOMEST SCREEN MAN IN GRIFFITH'S "DREAM STREET"
Ralph Graves, First Won Place on Screen in Contest for Handsome Men.

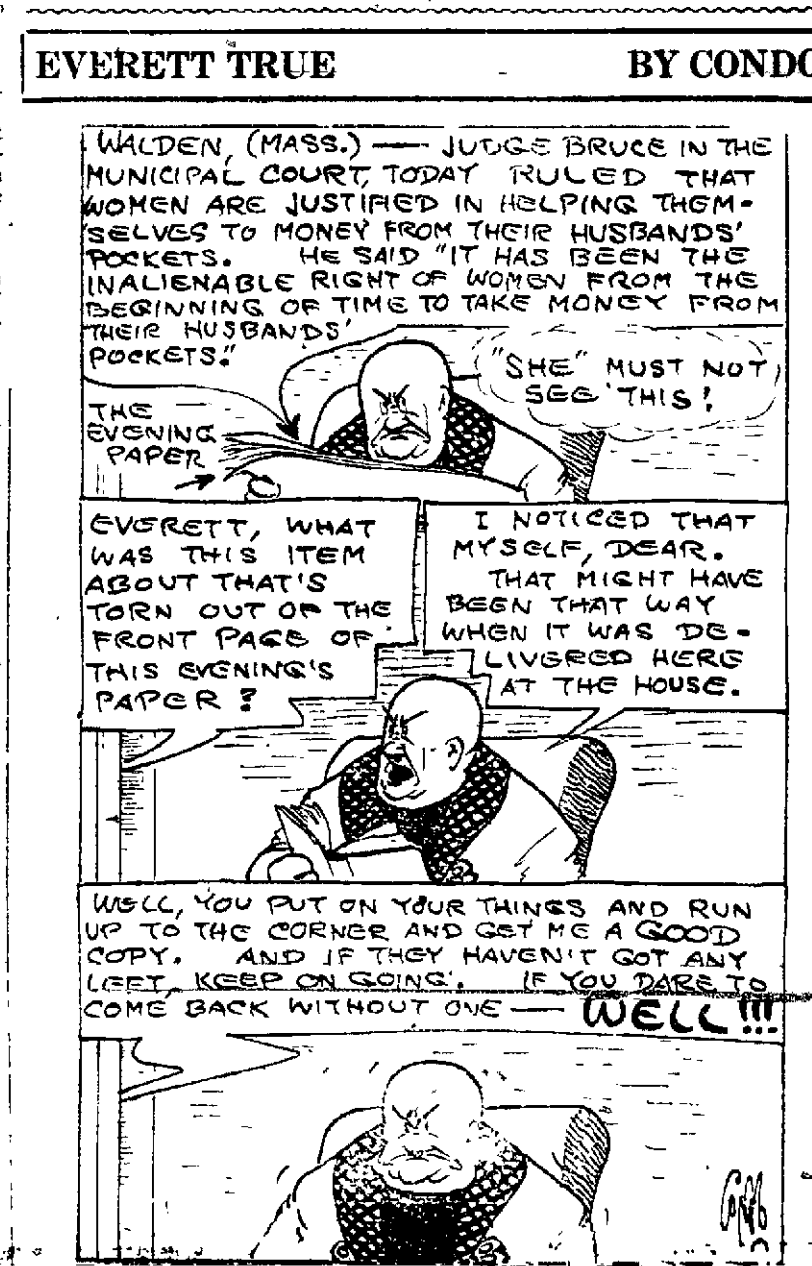

Ralph Graves handsome and son of a prosperous steel manufacturer, of Cleveland, Ohio, has one of the principal roles in D. W. Griffith's sensational new picture "Dream Street," which will be the feature of the Capitol Theatre beginning Monday.
The Griffiths have been in the drama, generally expressed in a nature effort, as in those prudent and cautious days, the stage was never thought quite respectable.
So Ralph was de tined for the foundry when he refused to continue his studies in college but he took a trip to Chicago and didn't use the return ticket.
His father's telegram for him to return home came at the same time a "dream" picture was in progress.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
Nancy, Nick and Buskins sat very still while Mother Nature gave the little seeds their lesson. They were in the magical country of Thistle-down Land where all the flying seeds go to learn where and how to grow the next year.
"Now, where does your book say for you to grow?" asked Mother Nature of the dandelion seeds.
"On the hill opposite the factory," answered the seeds with one voice.
"Why?"
"Because the people who work there have no flowers, and they can look out of the window and see us and be glad."
"That's right," said Mother Nature kindly. "But there are not enough of you here. You'll have to take all your younger brothers and sisters with you so that the whole hill will be bright and yellow next spring. Mr. Rabadub will give each of you a nice coat of yellow paint and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow will send down gentle showers to keep you clean. Hold your heads up and do all you can to spread happiness and cheer."
She called the milk-weed seeds next, when the dandelion seeds had taken their seats.
The milk-weed seeds were told to grow near to a house where poor children lived so that their pods could be used for doll-baby cradles in the fall.
Next came the maple tree seeds, gently smoothing their shiny clear wings.
"It's very important," said Mother Nature to the maple-seeds, "that you grow where you are most needed. So many people neglect planting shade trees that we will have to do the best we can. One of you must grow in a city yard where there are children, one near to a hospital where sick people can see your green branches, and one where tired horses can rest in your shade. Learn your lesson well, little seeds."
Nancy and Nick thought it wonderful.

FRIENDS

What is more noble than a friend?
A friend sincere and true;
Who if conditions should require,
Would give his all for you.
Who loves you neither for your fame,
Nor for your golden store,
But if misfortune chance to frown,
Would love you still the more.
What is more noble than a friend?
A friend in word and deed,
Whose love is all embracing
Not confined to cult or creed
I often times have thought that friends
Were unto mortals given,
That we might learn to love the more,
Our Saviour friend in heaven.

SUPREME COURT

FROM PIERCE COUNTY.

J. E. Burke, Respondent, vs. Minnesota Elevator Company, Appellant.
Syllabus:
(1) In an action for conversion of wheat in 1909 where suit was instituted in January, 1914, and was not brought to trial until January, 1920, after a change of venue had been taken by the defendant, in December, 1918, from Ward county to Pierce county, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that the trial court did not err in refusing to dismiss the action for failure to bring the same to trial within five years, pursuant to Section 7598 C. L. 1913.
(2) In such action, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that the special verdict of the jury finds support in the evidence.
(3) In such action, where the conversion of wheat occurred in 1909 and a jury by its special verdict, allowed the market price thereof existing at the time of such conversion without any finding that the plaintiff was entitled to interest upon such amount from the date of conversion, it is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that the trial court erred in its order for judgment, permitting plaintiff to recover interest for over ten years upon the amount found by the jury.
Action in district court, Pierce county, Buttz v.
Defendant has appealed from the judgment.

First National Bank of New Rockford, Plaintiff and Appellant, vs. E. R. Davidson, C. McLachlan, W. M. Carson, C. J. Stickney and W. M. Roberts, Defendants and Respondents.
Syllabus:
In an action upon a promissory note, where the defense asserted was that the note was given to a bank purely for its accommodation to cover up temporarily overdrafts of a publishing company, of which the defendants were directors, to pass an examination by the federal examiner, without any consideration, and upon the understanding that the note become a part of the bank's assets and should not be a legal binding obligation upon the defendants, and, where, further, as to one of the defendants, the defense was asserted that the note was signed and handed by such defendant to the plaintiff upon the express agreement that it should not take effect until certain conditions were first performed, it is held:
(1) That the evidence establishes, as a matter of law, that the note became a part of the assets of the bank.
(2) That the questions whether there existed a consideration for the note and whether the note was given as an accommodation to the publishing company, were for the jury.
(3) That directors, who with full understanding assume a duty and responsibility for their company to take up its overdraft, the payments of which is its legal duty, and, who sign a note, in response to this duty and responsibility which serves as an accommodation to their company and the fulfillment of its duty are liable to a holder for value of such note.
(4) That the admission of evidence concerning the existence of a guaranty, contract of indemnity for the payment of the note to the bank by former parties interested therein and concerning their wealth, is prejudicial error.
(5) That the failure to perform the conditions precedent to the delivery of the note was properly a defense for one of the defendants, and, that, as to the other defendants who signed such note as indorsers it would be a defense if plead and proved.
(6) That the plaintiff is entitled to a new trial as to all of the defendants by reason of prejudicial error in the record.

Fortune For Solution Of Used Car Problem

By NEA Service.
Washington, Feb. 2.—Millions await the person who will present a satisfactory solution to the used car problem.
That is the most perplexing proposition faced by the automobile manufacturers and dealers today. It will have to be solved this year, if any progress is to be made in the industry.

The used car situation has come to a point at which it is realized it is impairing the new car market. Cars have been "traded in" and new machines produced almost without restraint, until now automobile dealers find themselves overstocked and unable to sell.

According to a survey made by the directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, "It is estimated that automobile dealers and branches during the past 12 months have sold $200,000,000 worth of used cars at little or no profit."

Search for Sales Idea
In their eagerness to sell new automobiles, the dealers have missed their opportunity in overlooking motorists in the value of used cars. So that now the question of getting rid of this oversupply comes up.

Ideas have not been lacking as to how to buy used cars from motorists, so that the dealer or manufacturer would not lose by the transaction. But the one big idea as to how to resell these automobiles is still being sought.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the N. A. C. C., urges the dealers to "buy them right." But the problem now is to "sell them right."

Some of the suggestions advanced to help the sale of used cars are:
1. Opening of national used car markets, so that the greatest possible line of automobiles may be opened to intending purchasers; also that owners of used cars may find it easier to exchange their cars.

2. Education of the public to the value and reliability of used cars, especially after the new machines have been recommended by the manufacturers and are ready for sale under a guarantee.

3. Insurance of used car shows, to raise the public esteem of second-hand cars and show the thrift in used car purchases.

Lower Production
Manufacturers are beginning to realize that they will have to make less new cars and devote more efforts to reconditioning the used cars for future use.

New car production, this year, will be much lower than last, if the suggestions made by the directors of the N. A. C. C. are followed. As much attention will be paid in selling a prospect a second-hand car as has been given to the new car customer.

Guarantees will be extended to older cars and service will be more painstaking.

To help reduce the number of used cars now held by automobile manufacturers and dealers it has been suggested that a campaign be conducted urging owners to scrap their automobiles when maintenance and operation costs outweigh the advantages to be derived from the purchase of new cars.

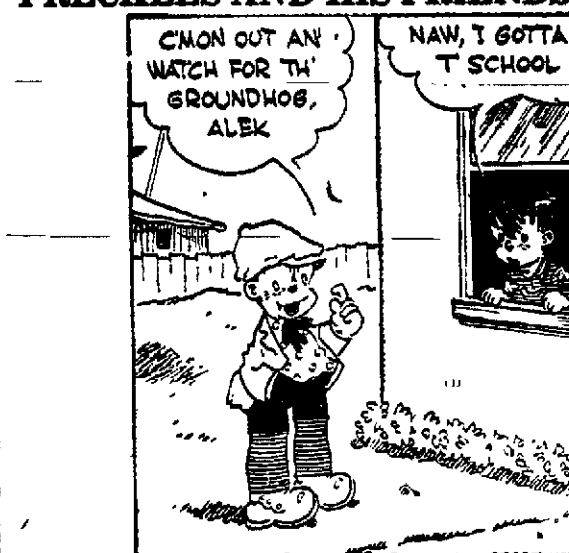

Trade Boom Seen As Rail Orders Pour In

By ALBERT APPLE
Pittsburgh, Feb. 2.—The C. B. & Q. railroad is placing orders for 7,800 freight cars, enough to make a train 59 miles long.
This is the biggest single order for freight cars in more than a year.
It is about half as many cars as were ordered by all American railroads combined during the whole of 1931.
Burlington officials say they are ordering these cars "to be thoroughly prepared for the great volume of traffic which is destined to move with the coming revival of business."
Steel Men Brighten
The Burlington freight car buying is producing an almost electric effect in the steel industry.
Some of the leading steel men see in it the beginning of heavy buying by the railroads.
The steel trade for months has been predicting that the next big buying movement in steel will start with a flood of orders for railroad equipment.
The roads are steadily getting in better shape financially. The bond market is shaping itself to provide the roads with plenty of purchasing power.
Dammed-Up Orders
Steel experts say the railroads, to handle traffic efficiently during the next boom, will have to buy:
10,000,000 tons of steel rails
500,000 freight cars
10,000 locomotives.
In addition, railroad buying is behind needs to enormous quantities of steel spikes, ties and other equipment.

MARKETS

WHEAT UP SHARPLY
Chicago, Feb. 2.—Wheat advanced today to the highest price since October 4. A new upturn in values at Liverpool was the dominating influence. Besides crop reports from the southwest, continued bullish initial quotations which varied from 14 to 2 3/4 cents higher were well maintained during the early trading. Assertion that United States wheat is at present the cheapest wheat in the world facilitated the upward swing. Market closed strong 2 1/2 to 4 cents net higher.

LITTLE NATIVE ILLITERACY IN NORTH DAKOTA

North Dakota is practically without native born illiterates, according to statistics for all of the states of the Union which have just reached the office of the superintendent of public instruction. A group of western states and New York are listed as having one-half of one per cent or less. Five states—Washington, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana are listed as having the lowest percentage of native born illiterates, three-tenths of one per cent. California, Oregon, Nevada, North Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska are in the next list at four-tenths of one per cent, while New York, as the only eastern state gets into a bracket with Iowa at half of one per cent.

Work of eliminating illiteracy in North Dakota is progressing in a satisfactory manner according to Miss Bertha Palmer, who has charge of the work relating to it that comes into the office of the state superintendent. Dickinson is having great success with its night school, according to Miss Palmer, the recent reports from there showing 140 students. The interest is so great that the schools have been opened to women, who attend two night schools a week. The students learned to sing America in ten days from the time of the first attempt. A band is being organized. The Dickinson teachers also are at the head of a school at Lehigh where twelve foreigners are being taught. Schools have been started in La-Moore county, and reporting 76 and Kulm 14. Jamestown reports 51 in night school and Medina 25 fourteen of whom had never been in school in this country before.

FREE INDIANS FROM BUREAU, IS SOCIETY'S AIM

Representative of Organization Confers with Bismarck People on Plan

Ell Perkins, of the Society of American Indians, is in Bismarck conferring with local people in the interest of the work of the society.

The society, formed at first to generally aid the Indians, has now as one of its major objects the removal of Indians from control of the Indian Bureau of the government. The leaders of the society hold that progress cannot be made by the Indians as long as they are under the control of the Indian Bureau.

It is charged by the society that there are 7,000 white men in the United States who are being paid $15,000,000 a year for taking care of 400,000 Indians. The society advocates the freeing of the Indians from bureaucratic control and Americanizing them.

The magazine published by the society states its cause, saying:

"Today we behold the cause and effect of the ruinous system of the Indian Bureau on reservation Indians. The Indian Bureau has not helped the Indian race. It deprived them of their hunting grounds and doted out food to them without their physical efforts. It taught the Indians to beggars without giving them the same in return. It has made the responsibilities of the Indians by doing everything for them that they ought to do for themselves and thus keeping them helpless and unable to compete in the world's struggle. It has taught the country to look upon them as objects of charity and dependent creatures, unworthy of citizenship. And it has made them foreigners in their own country and they are subjects for Americans to Americanize."

HEIRESS SPEEDS TOWARD WEDDING

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Maran E. Stephens, heiress to the $40,000,000 estate of her father, the late Norman B. Ream, was speeding to New York today to prepare for her marriage Saturday to A. A. Vonsiatsky, a Russian working man employed in the Baldwin locomotive works.

She reiterated her determination to live according to the means of her husband-to-be.

"Happiness," she said, "is not a question of money. Money has nothing to do with marriage one way or another. We shall live very simply in accordance with my husband's position, although we are not going to live in precisely the kind of working man's cottage described as typical. I expect to be very happy."

Mrs. Stephens confirmed the statement that her husband is heir to vast estates in southern Russia, which were confiscated in Russia and is from one of the old and wealthiest families of the old regime.

ENGINEERS TO URGE LICENSE LAW ENACTMENT

Convention to be Held in Bismarck Will Take Up Bill Lost in Last Session

One of the matters of public concern and interest, which is expected to come before the annual meeting of the North Dakota chapter of the American Association of Engineers to be held in the city next week will be the licensing, or the registration, of professional engineers and land surveyors.

A number of efforts have been made in the past by the North Dakota Society of Engineers to secure the passage of an engineer's license bill, but no progress has been made. The state organization of the American Association of Engineers sponsored introduction of its registration bill in last year's legislature session, but the bill, though twice reported favorably out of committee, unfortunately fell by the wayside in the last days of the legislature's political transactions.

It is now hoped, however, by means of publicity during the present year to lay a substantial foundation for the passage of the same registration bill at the next session.

It is pointed out that the object of licensing and registration of engineers is not to make the profession of engineering a closed shop. The real purpose of the measure is to protect the public from incompetent and untrained engineering service. Secondly with the existence of engineer license laws in surrounding states, it is stated that the profession of engineering, etc., must be protected in North Dakota since licensed engineers in other states may practice in this state while the same privilege is not extended to the North Dakota engineer unless he is licensed in the other state.

Steps Taken by Body to Get Adjustment of N. D. Freight Rates

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 2.—Steps to bring about unified action of the various civic and commerce associations of the state in the fight to secure an equitable adjustment of freight rates as they affect North Dakota traffic were taken at the closing session of the North Dakota Federation of Civic and Commerce associations in Fargo.
